Call for 2023 Bursary Applications

The Amandla Omoya Trust is investing R7.5 million over three years in students and young people out of school who want to study further at South African tertiary education or training institutions including public or private TVET colleges, universities of technology or academic universities.

The Amandla Omoya Trust is a community trust that owns shares in Jeffreys Bay Wind Farm for the benefit of communities within a 50 kilometre radius of the farm. It believes that everyone in its communities should have an opportunity to reach their dreams. One way that the Trust expresses this, is by powering young people to advance.

The Trust has R2.5 million to give in bursaries for 2023. The Trust's bursaries are managed by StudyTrust.

Students intending to or currently studying towards NQF level 4 in technical and vocational education and training programmes, or for national diploma and degree programmes are invited to apply for a bursary. Young people who completed their NSC or NTC previously but are not currently studying can also apply.
